“ Chris and I worked together at Honeywell ((formerly AlliedSignal) for ten years. I found him to be one of the most intelligent people with whom I worked. I watched him go through a failed liver transplant, then a successful one and a full recovery. I retired and saw Chris establish himself more highly with NNSD and others. The world needs more people like Chris: a combination of empathy, ethics and friendliness.

“ Chris and Kay were our neighbors in Calif. They were the best neighbors we have ever had, and they became forever friends even tho we live many miles apart. Chris and Dick's backgrounds were as different as night and day. Chris with a higher education and Dick with the education of hard knocks, but that didn't seem to matter when they had their many "tailgate meetings" where they talked about everything from politics, Christianity, and family to planning their next hunting trip.

Chris was the kind of person you looked up to. His background and life showed he was a man of integrity. He will be greatly missed!

We send our love to Kay and all the family.
