“ This is one of my favorite pictures of you, dad. You knew that though. I told you often how handsome you were in this pic. Your smile lit up the room. It isn't easy being here when I know that you are rejoicing up in heaven, but I KNOW that I will see you again. Jesus is coming soon and you would have wanted everyone to know that they can come with you. All they need to do is ask Jesus into their heart and believe that he is their savior. You shared that with so many and I promise you that I will continue to do that in your honor!! I love you. Until we see each other again, take all of the hugs you can get from God. I can feel them down here.

“ One thing about Cody: He LOVED to laugh!!! We were friends before we were friends!!! A man often imitated but never duplicated. He was crazy about his family. The world lost someone very special & he will be missed greatly. Love you brother man ❤️, Mo
