“ I am Jessies cousin Nicole Brown. Jesse and I just recently got connected again after many years. We would sit and text back and forth sending funny things to eachother and catch up on our family things that we missed out on. I am going to miss him so much. He will forever be in my heart. Love ya jesse. 🥺

“ I grew up with Jess and considered him my best friend as a teenager. After moving away in my sophomore year we were able to reconnect almost 46 years later. When I first met him I couldn't help to want to be his friend being around him and seeing his easy going nature and sense of humor. We spent many years having sleepovers, listening to music (records LOL), going to church and scout camps, roaming and terrorizing the neighborhood and even planning running away together. Jesse made my teen years fun and less boring for sure but importantly gave me a positive and warm connection where I felt accepted as I was at the time. His parents were the best and I know he is happy to be with them again. Love you Jess!
