“ Justin was one of my best friends. He loved my kids and was genuinely a good person. No matter where we were in life we could always come together and it would feel like old times. He would help anyone. He always put others first.. he could make me smile in even the worst times and was always down to do whatever i came up with. I told my kids he was gone and they greived their friend who would take them to the park an buy them pizza. You will be missed my friend.
