“Daddy,
Remember our father/daughter talks when I was little? The pow wows we had until I hollered calf rope or uncle and how angry I would be that I lost? Playing that weird friends game I made up and how we'd laugh when we got caught on monkeys? Remember me driving the truck when I couldn't see over the dash? Who drives at the age of 4, but me? Remember the bad times that only you and I ever understood why we had them? Remember how we were both too stubborn to talk to each other and didn't know how to stop? Remember father/daughter talks the last few years when we became each other's sounding boards? Remember the last time I wished you Happy Father's Day this year? Our relationship was filled with love, laughter, good times and bad. Of all the things I remember, the best time was singing with you when I was little and the sound of your voice. Your ability to listen and care about me is irreplaceable. There won't be a day that goes by that I won't remember you. Your heart was too soft for this world. Be at peace now. Your worries are over. I know you love me and Elora. Death cannot take that love away.
Until we meet again Daddy,
Your daughter always,
Corkie

“We are so sorry to hear of Stanson's passing. Our prayers for strength and comfort go out to Virginia and the rest of the family. I can't remember a single time that he came here to pick up milk that he wasn't in a good mood or laughing. May God bless each of you

“ There are so many memories that i have about my brother so i'll start with when he came home from the hospital after his birth. I wanted to hold him so bad and had to beg but finally that day came. My Mother put him on my 5 yearold shoulder and he threw up down my back. I wasn't to fond of him about then. We had our time of fighting but were smart enough not to let our parents know. They thought they had just good kids, He locked me in a already overstuffed closet once and I was hollering I can't breathe.. We loved each other no matter what. He has been there for me and my children when times were bad and always there to help if needed. I will miss his birthday wishes every year when he would sing to me and always add something referring to how old I was. which wasn't ever very nice and then laugh his head off. Loved his visits, his good heart , his beautiful voice that gave me chills. Stanson I'm going to be lost without you but I know you have found your peace with our heavenly Father. I will always love you! Your loving Sister

I'm so so very sorry for your loss, Marjorie. As close as I am to my own siblings I can only imagine the grief you're suffering as it would seem a part of me would leave with them when you have a lifetime of history together. However, Jesus said that He went to make a place for us and I believe that your brother is there with Him and will one day greet you upon arrival. For that I am thankful and He carries me with it. Let it comfort you and allow Him to carry you. I love you, Marjorie.

“ I'm so Thankful for the times we had, thankful that we know you are rejoicing in Heaven , I can just see grandma, grandpa and uncle mon waving you in. It won't be the same here without you, mom misses her brother, we miss our uncle. There are so many people who thought the world of you and we are just in disbelief that you aren't here with us anymore. I will always think of you in overalls , steel guitar, cows, singing , in the dairy barn, stopping me in the road and asking me who those ugly kid's were and making them laugh. I got to tell you I love you and try to give you some peace of mind and comfort, and we got to have some talks that I'm so thankful for. Thls is so hard, we are going to miss you so very much, but you are so much better now In so many ways. Thank God we will see you again one day soon. Until that time , I love you Uncle Stanson and I miss you. ❤️ Cheryl

“ I will never forget how he ALWAYS stuck his false teeth out at us kids to get a reaction out of us. Exploring the land he worked his fingers to the bone on, jumping hay bales, and getting stuck on fences because we were terrified of his horses. His collection and love of guns and always driving up to my grandmas-his sister's to always show off the deer he had gotten that season. He loved his sister and as the little brother was still checking on her and looking after her right up until he went into the hospital. Deer Track Trail will not be the same, he was truly loved by all. We know he is singing in God's choir, we will miss you Uncle Stanson
