“ Wallace was a special man to us. He became very dear to my husband Bill Molton, sharing stories about their times in Viet Nam. They both needed someone, and they found each other, and when they did, it was the best friendship ever. A Viet Nam Vet couldn't just talk to anyone. So very thankful they found each other. Because of this, they became very close friends..... Our hearts ache knowing we will not see Wallace again, but at the same time, we feel comfort in knowing he is not sick any longer and in no pain. WE will see him again some day.....just thankful for the kindness, love and friendship he gave to each of us.....Rest in peace, dear friend.....We'll be along soon.....
